DRY OHIO GOES WET
LEARNING ABOUT WORK
BEER DRIVES OUT WHISKY
THIS OTHER WOMAN

OHIO HAS GONE WET. Davis S. Ingalls, who won the Distinguished Service medal after he brought down five enemy planes in the big war, won at the Republican gubernatorial primaries. He ran on a wet platform.

Nearly all candidates endorsed by the Anti-Saloon league were badly beaten. Ohio, once perfectly dry, appears now to be perfectly wet, a considerable change.

JAMES COX BRADY JR., 23 years old, who is directing coal shovellers eight hours a day for the Consolidated Gas Co. of New York, owns a good deal of that company, and is a director in 50 other companies. He wants to know what it means to work for a living. His new job will tell him. He works 46 hours a week for 50 cents an hour, $23 a week.

POLES, Italians and others that do hard work wonder how he landed the job, and think him lucky. They would wonder more if they knew that the young man is worth $50,000.00.

The original Brady, Anthony N., advising this writer to buy a certain stock said:

"Governor Flower and I wanted to get young W. R. Hearst interested in that stock, and I waited more than two hours outside of his door to see him, but couldn't get in. I understand he doesn't deal in public utilities. He'd have made 10 millions if he'd joined us."

The message that Mr. Brady got from W. R. Hearst, then busy starting his papers in New York, was: "Tell him I'm much obliged, but I'm interested in newspapers."

GERMANY'S government monopoly of alcoholic drinks appears to be working well. In the first three months the consumption of distilled spirits was only one-half the consumption of last year, and less than one-quarter the consumption of 1928-1929.

To make beer and light wines cheap and whiskey dear is the way to discourage whiskey and drunkenness. Our method, which forbids light wines and beer, not easily hidden, without interfering with whiskey and gin, encourages drunkenness and crime.

THOSE that are wet put on their letters stamps reading "Swat the dry," and drys ask the postoffice to stop this. The government might well stop it. Whether you believe that ardent drys are right or wrong, you know that they are sincere, leaving out the few that practice grafting and bribe-taking in enforcement jobs.

It is a pity that wets and drys should abuse each other, instead of talking things over and deciding what should be done, like sensible Americans.

A WISE one in writing about matrimony says, "When men express disapproval of their wives' clothes they have ceased to love their mates."

The same thing is told by Harry Hershfield in his "Harry Hershfield."

Murphy Winner

Frank B. Murphy of Steubenville defeated two opponents to win easily the Republican nomination for congressman from the eighteenth district.

MURPHY GIVEN LARGE VOTE IN CONGRESS RACE

Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan Looms as Central Committee Winner

Complete figures were lacking still today in each of the five counties comprising the eighteenth congressional district but a preponderant majority appeared to have been piled up for Frank Murphy of Steubenville, for the Republican nomination for congress.

Murphy ran three to one over his nearest competitor in Columbiana county, polling approximately 9,300 votes in the unofficial tabulation. John C. Nichols finished second with 3,076 and Charles L. Snyder was third with 2,544.

The count in Jefferson county with a number of precincts missing, gave Murphy almost 7,000 votes while Nichols polled 4,240. Snyder 3,008.

Large Majority In Belmont
Murphy came out of Belmont county with a decidedly large majority, his count there extending well past the 6,000 mark while Nichols, second, was given 2,314.

The congressman polled 2,061 in Harrison and Nichols was given 868. In Carroll county, incomplete returns indicated Murphy was running ahead by a ratio of almost ten to one.

L. E. Imhoff of St. Clairsville won the Democratic nomination.

The election of Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan as the woman member of the state central committee appeared certain, although figures to date were still incomplete. Columbiana county gave Mrs. LeVan 6,284 votes to 3,169 for Mrs. Fitzsimmons and, according to reports, the count elsewhere reached an equal and, in some instances, a wider ratio.

The county gave W. C. George a big advantage with 7,701 votes for the other state central committee post, more than 6,000 above the figure for V. F. Rowland, second.

Masons To Gather In Lisbon Friday

LISBON, May 12—It has been estimated that between 200 and 300 members of the Masonic fraternity will be guests of New Lisbon lodge No. 65, P. & A. M., Friday evening when Nazir Grotto of Canton pays a fraternal visit here accompanied by his band.

Grotto and band will arrive at 7 p. m. traveling in two busses and a motor caravan. Every Masonic lodge in this county will have representatives at the special gathering.

It will be preceded by a band concert in the public square, weather permitting.

Rev. R. D. Walter Bethesda Speaker

Rev. R. D. Walter, pastor of the Salem Presbyterian church, was the guest speaker at the mid-week devotional and social meeting of the Bethesda Presbyterian church at Millport, Wednesday evening.

Rev. Walter spoke on "The Assurance of Springtime." He also sang two songs, "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" and "Sylvia."

Rev. O. S. Whitacre, pastor of the church, is a college friend of Rev. Walter's.

Officials Warn of Counterfeit Bills

Close scrutiny of all bills of $20 denomination was urged today by Salem bank officials following reports by merchants that several counterfeit bills have been offered in payment for merchandise.

At least five of the bills have been accepted by merchants, bankers said, within the past week.

COUNTY BALLOT BOARD CHECKS PRIMARY VOTE

Election Aids Begin Work Today On Official Tabulation

STATE TICKET COUNTED FIRST

Expect to Have Final Totals On County Friday

The official tabulation of votes cast in Columbiana county's primaries Tuesday was under way today in Lisbon, in charge of the county election board.

The counting of ballots on the state ticket was started this morning by the board. Members of the board expressed the opinion, however, that the official check would not be completed until late Friday.

Although several races were close, especially those for the two Republican commissioner nominations, the board did not expect any drastic changes in the final count unless because of some unexpected contingency.

Cobb Polls 3,346

In this race, L. R. Cobbs of Salem finished with an unofficial count of 3,346, or 62 votes behind Oliver C. Vody of East Liverpool. Leroy Rinehart of East Liverpool led with 3,567. The unofficial figures gave Harry L. Weikart of Damascus 2,626, S. N. VanBlaricom of Salem 1,659 and Bert Capel of Salem 663.

The official tabulation was not expected to disturb the sheriff race inasmuch as Frank Ballantine of Salem led by 289 votes over J. Howard Sinclair. Ballantine was given 4,705 in the initial count.

While John A. Bryan of East Liverpool proved strong in the south end of the county, he was unable to pick up strength in the north and finished third with 3,444. Thomas Cartwright's 2,673 placed him fourth and Norman H. Peters 1,487, fifth.

Unofficial returns show that H. L. McCarthy of Salem ran a close second to George L. Lafferty of Lisbon, in a hot race for the nomination as G. O. P. party's representative in the November race for prosecuting attorney. Lafferty polled 4,966 to McCarthy's 4,637, followed by E. L. Lyon of East Palestine with 3,700 and W. S. Foulks of East Liverpool with 2,906.

THIEVES GET $5 IN 2 ROBBERIES

Salem Builders' Supply Office Ransacked; Filling Station Entered

Thieves Wednesday night entered the office of the Salem Builders' Supply company, South Ellsworth ave., and the Shriver gasoline filling station, East State st., escaping with less than $5 in cash and merchandise.

Extensive damage was caused by burglars at the Builders' Supply company, it was reported to Police Chief T. W. Thompson. Business files were ransacked, drawers forced and three doors broken down.

Entrance was gained into the office by throwing a stone through the window of a rear door after which the burglars reached in and unlocked the door.

A small amount of money was taken from cash drawers in the office, burglarized in a similar manner two months ago.

Cigarettes and tobaccos were taken from the filling station owned and operated by Ed Shriver, located near the City hospital.

County officials today reported the theft of 100 chickens from the poultry house on the farm of W. L. Carter, Fairfield township. Deputy Sheriff George Hays is investigating.

Gangsters Kill Second Brother

NEW YORK, May 12—Again the guns have written a Cohen off the bullet-riddled pages of the poultry racket.

A month ago it was Joseph Cohen, he succeeded to his brother's throne. Late last night the guns were trained on Barney Cohen, he succeeded to his brother's place in the poultry picture. He was shot down as he stood on a street corner. Four men in a car fired. The roar of their weapons was lost in the music from a choir singing in a church nearby. Daniel Belviso, who told police he was alighting from a street car as the volley was fired, was wounded. The killers escaped.

Senate Reminder

Senator Robert B. Howell, (Republican) of Nebraska, who now constitutes what amounts to a one-man farm bloc in the Senate as a result of his daily championing of the cause of the American farmer. He declares he will continue to remind the Senate that it has failed to keep its promises to the tiller of the soil.

2 ARE KILLED AS ZEP SNAPS LANDING CABLE

Whirled Aloft, Pair Lets Go; Third Hangs On And Is Saved

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, CALIF., May 12—The navy dirigible Akron today swung calmly at anchor at Camp Kearny field where two blue-jackets were killed in an attempt to moor her.

A third seaman, Charles Coward, dangled for two hours to a mooring line yesterday before being hauled aboard the world's largest airship at 2,000 feet.

Rescued by storms in southwest Texas, forced to climb high over mountains, the airship arrived here safely at 9:07 a. m. P. S. T. (12:07 p. m. in Salem) yesterday where it had tragedy climax its transcontinental flight.

Snaps Its Cable
"Peculiarly stratified air" was blamed by Lieut. Commander C. E. Rosendahl, master of the Akron, for the airship's sudden ascent after snapping its cable, as efforts were being made to moor it.

Two hundred blue-jackets had hold of the lines dropped from the Akron and were swinging into position when a "peculiar" current of air caused the big ship to swing upward. All but three of the sailors let go as they felt themselves leaving the ground.

So sudden was the rise of the Akron, that the three men who clung to the ropes had reached a dangerous position.

Nurses At District Event In Liverpool

Four Salem nurses, Miss Esther Wilson, superintendent of the Salem City hospital; Miss Lillian Schroeder, instructor at the hospital; Miss Elizabeth Steer and Miss Ann Thomas, attended a meeting of District 3, Ohio State Nurses association, Wednesday afternoon at the Elks home in East Liverpool.

More than 100 delegates were in attendance from Salem, Youngstown, Warren and Ashtabula in Columbiana county, and Trumbull, Mahoning and Ashtabula counties, which comprise the district.

Reports from the state convention at Akron were given. Miss Margaret Napier, R. N., instructor in St. Elizabeth's hospital, Youngstown, gave a paper on "Modern Trends in Nursing." Vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Louise Brooks, man Taylor and Miss Anne Whitney.

Goshen Grangers Exemplify Degree

The Goshen grange degree team, captained by Miss Naomi Shinn, exemplified the third and fourth degrees at a meeting of Smith grange Wednesday evening at the Garfield grange hall. The team was highly complimented for its work.

Nearly 300 grangers were in attendance, representatives of six granges in Mahoning county. Women of Smith grange served refreshments.

Alumni To Gather At Masonic Temple

The annual banquet and reunion of the Salem High School Alumni association will be held at the Masonic temple, East State st., or Friday, May 27.

Members of the 1932 graduating class of Salem High school will be guests of the association. A program of entertainment with dancing is being arranged.

223 PUPILS IN JUNIOR HIGH'S LARGEST CLASS

The tour, conducted under the auspices of the General Confederation of French Production, will embrace New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, Detroit and Albany. The members of the delegation represent industries including mining, machinery, elevators, electricity, etc.

WET-DRY ISSUE REMOVED FROM FALL CONTESTS

Question Largely Eliminated by Primary Returns

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 12—Unlike the primary campaign, the November election contests in Ohio will be devoid of the prohibition issue, except in races for a few minor offices.

Returns from Tuesday's primary, virtually complete today showed the voters had eliminated the liquor nominating only wet candidates for question as an election issue by governor, United States senator, congress-at-large and a majority of the district congressional aspirants.

Bettman and Bulkley

In the senatorial race, the opponents will be Atty. Gen. Gilbert Bettman, Republican, and Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic incumbent, both outspoken advocates of the liquor law changes. Bettman was nominated in a clear-cut wet-and-dry fight with Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, who had the endorsement of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League.

Bettman defeated Taber by about 60,000, despite the fact the liberal vote was divided among three other aspirants, Jacob S. Coxey, of Massillon, Mrs. C. T. Miller of Cleveland and Charles A. Bracher of Dayton, Bulkley had no opposition in the primary.

The Republican gubernatorial primary campaign ended with David S. Ingalls, 35-year-old assistant secretary of the navy for aviation, who made repeal his issue, winning by some 30,000 votes over his nearest rival, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, a dry.

Ingalls' vote approached 280,000 as compared with some 250,000 for Brown, slightly less than 125,000 for

Program Is Given At Mt. Nebo Grange

A Mother's day program was presented at a meeting of Mt. Nebo grange Wednesday evening at the hall, Salem-Lisbon rd. The roll call response was "Mother's Day Quotations."

Mrs. Anna Prantz gave a reading "Origin of Mother's Day." Other numbers were: Selection by a quartet composed of Mrs. Herman Zimmerman, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Ray Klingeman and Mrs. Frank Bricker; readings, George Lodge and Charles Speaker.

Stunts were in charge of Mrs. John Shelton.

Mt. Nebo grange will have a joint Memorial service with Midway grange early in June for the members of these granges who have died in the last year.

McArtoir Gives Talk To Sunday Schools

Perry McArtoir of Salem gave a talk on "Sunday School Administration" at the Wednesday evening session of the annual convention of the West-Hanover Township Sunday School association. The convention will close tonight. McArtoir is superintendent of the Sunday school of St. Jacob's Reformed church, north of Lisbon.

J. William Filson, Salem soloist, sang two solos on the program, with Mrs. Ruth Berry at the piano. He also led the singing.

Miss Addie Bonsall of Salem is scheduled to speak on the convention program tonight. She is teacher of the Loyal Women's class of the Christian church.

Means At Liberty, Lines Up Defense

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12—At liberty once again, and full of fight, Gaston B. Means began lining up his defense today against the grave embezzlement charges which face him.

Tomorrow this stranger-than-fiction character from the borderland between law and crime will be arraigned to plead to indictments which accuse him of converting to his own use $104,000 obtained from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, ostensibly as ransom and expense money to liberate the kidnapped Lindbergh child.

Out of jail yesterday, he talked at last of the amazing case and other suspicions levelled at him, in loud denunciation of his accusers.

He scoffed at the charges. Mrs. McLean, he shouted, "don't have a leg to stand on! This is a travesty. You think I'm afraid of Mrs. McLean?"

Then he told how he got into the McLean-Lindbergh adventure, how he believed he could get the child.

"I'd been to the pen. I knew the underworld and the underworld shoots straight with me."

HOSPITAL DAY OBSERVED HERE

Program Under Way Today; B. F. Stanton Will Speak Tonight

Observance of National Hospital day today by Salem City hospital will be climaxed with a program at 8 tonight at the Salem High school auditorium at which B. F. Stanton, Alliance, superintendent of the city schools there, will give an address.

A pageant, "Nursing History" will be featured. Student nurses compose the cast, which is under the direction of Miss Lillian Schroeder.

Miss Betty Lee Kenneweg will give a "nature dance" in the pageant.

Selections will be given by Salem musicians.

This afternoon a public tea was to be held at the hospital from 2 until 4 in charge of Mrs. William Silver, general committee chairman, assisted by other women on the hospital board.

At the same time a "kiddies" party was scheduled at the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses home for children born in the hospital during the last five years.

National hospital day is in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Florence Nightingale. The day also affords hospitals an opportunity to inform the public of the character of their contribution to the public welfare, according to hospital authorities.

Play Is Feature At Grange Meeting

A play "I Want to Get Married" was featured on the program at the meeting of Guilford grange Saturday evening at the hall. The play was: Mrs. Ross Carnes, Miss Mabel Kelch, Ray Givens and Miss Carrie Sell.

Songs, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" were sung by the grange. Mrs. H. S. Gamble gave a reading, "The Origin of Farming."

A memorial was held for Jacob Batzli, who died recently.

NEW YORK, May 12—Hub-bub around the ferries during the morning and evening rush is a cross-section of metropolitan life churned to a furious froth. Each boat in the morning brings a staggering load, pressing at sluice gates, to be immediately swallowed by the city.

At evening the boats bite off their chunks, in the manner of the steam shovels, and carry them off to Jersey and Staten Island shores. They are the so-called "respectable middle class"—the sort who buy homes with gardens and without whom a great statesman, pane-grized, "no nation can endure."

Seventy per cent are potential home owners. Ambitions are consecrated to reducing the mortgage. Thus they attain a commendable thrift the city dweller rarely achieves. Saturday afternoons and evenings they remain in town to shop, see the movies or play. It is the day they fill Broadway.

In innumerable instances wives and husbands work until babies arrive. If places of business are near they may lunch together, but generally they meet at the ferry with pecking kisses and a pronounced eagerness to quit the city and its confusions.

The ferry is after all the most agreeable of New York's transportation. Passengers ride smoothly in a scour of fresh breeze, tanga with the salt of the sea. A woe-begone orchestra furnishes its folk of last year's tunes. Horatio Alger novel blacks offer their brisk nickel shimes.

On foggy days there is the adventure of "being lost," but the list of accidents is astonishingly small. Now and then there is the thrill of being awash some liner nosing gently out to the deep. And always flung high in lacey dazzle is the wondrous sky line.

In his bachelor days the Wall Street public utility magnate Henry L. Doherty, used to get away from metropolitan distractions in deck walking on the ferries after the home-going rush.

Undaunted by a recent calamity Earl Carroll is to make his production in a "hoodooed" playhouse. He has rented the Manhattan for a long time of years and scoffs at such silly superstition. The beautiful temple was built by Arthur Hammerstein and bore his name but after a series of misfortunes he relinquished it and others tried futilely to carry on under other names.

The passing of Frank, head barman at the Paris Ritz bar, remove, one of the best known figures among Americans in the French capital. He was a ruddy-cheeked blonde whose autograph book was the most complete in the world. He amassed a fortune and was a large stockholder in the Ritz although he never removed his white coat. He spent two years at the old Fifth avenue in the 1890s.

The dapper Walter Wanger, husband of Justine Johnson, adorned his evening shirt with one black stud and one white. But word from St. Moritz is that Michael Arlen goes further. A lone pea-sized amethyst is bosomed in the snowy expanse of his full dress regalia for the love of Mike!

Tommy Millard, popping over from Shanghai every whip-stitch invariably has a surprise for those of us clinging so tenuously to simplicity in dress. (What dirty dog threw that?) One, I recall, was an autumnal brown derby of beaver in the contrast to his dove-colored iron hat. At the moment he is reported enroute with light tan gloves ribbed in bright purple. Deep blue collared shirts and snow white space complete the sartorial synthesis. Lou Holz, incidentally, featured a Prussian blue in shirts touched up with a canary yellow four-in-hand this spring.

Eccentric male attire is remindful that bejeweled Diamond Jim Brady, nearing the shadows, requested a huge tin box of L. O. U's be destroyed. These were gleanings of the waltzes along the way that is white and for which Diamond Jim sighed no regrets. He was suckled in the creed of all class spenders: "It's fun being a sucker if you can afford it."

A magazine: "He was a wishy-washy soul with several days' growth and incredibly greasy clothes and soiled linen whose amiability made him welcome everywhere."

Recalling George Ade's old one-wishy but not overly washy.

Man Lost 20 Pounds Looks 100% Better Feels Stronger Than Ever

Just to prove to any doubtful man or woman that Kruschen Salts is the SAFE way to reduce—let us take the letter of Mr. F. J. Fritz of Cincinnati, Ohio, recently received. He writes: "I've tried extreme dieting, setting up exercises with very little results—but the results from Kruschen are almost incredible. In 3 months I reduced from 285 to 179 pounds and feel stronger than ever—no more wheezing or gasping for breath—friends say I look 100 per cent better."

The Stars Say—

For Friday, May 13
An eventful and memorable day is forecast from the interesting chain of planetary aspects. There is sign of sudden change of far-reaching influence on the destinies, those promoting business, new contracts and all manner of writings, but discretion is called for in contacts with employers or those in authority.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of radical change, with possible travel. Strange adventures or experiences may be encountered, but be careful in employment or with superiors.

A child born on this day should be brilliant, adaptable, skillful, original and may shine in science, inventions, art or literature.

Appendicitis Made Dangerous By Delay

Fatalities from appendicitis have increased during the last ten years. This statement may be unexpected because of the great advances that have been made in surgery within the last 25 years.

Not so long ago the operation for appendicitis created great anxiety and fear. Today the operation is accepted with little apprehension. Unfortunately, there is too much carelessness and neglect of a disease which requires immediate attention. Very often the afflicted individual realizes that he is suffering from an attack of appendicitis, but delays calling a physician. In too many cases the physician is called when it is too late.

Statistics show that 40 per cent of the appendicitis patients entering hospitals today display signs of what the doctors call "ruptured appendix." This is indeed tragic, for when the appendix ruptures the peritoneum, or lining of the abdomen, it becomes infected and this causes a serious condition called peritonitis. When peritonitis is present as a complication, appendicitis is a serious and often a fatal disease.

Appendicitis, as the name implies is an inflammation of the appendix. This organ is located in the lower right side of the abdomen and is attached to a portion of the large intestine, known as the caecum. The use of the appendix has never been determined.

The appendix becomes infected by one of the various germs which may cause appendicitis. The most common is the colon bacillus, a germ which comes from the intestine.

Pain is produced when the appendix becomes inflamed. Bear in mind that this pain often resembles what is vulgarly called the "belly-ache." At first the pain is localized around the navel, and then it passes to the right side of the abdomen.

Fever is present, together with nausea and vomiting. At this stage of the trouble many a person makes a serious mistake. He takes a laxative, hoping to relieve the pain. This is dangerous, for if the pain is due to appendicitis, taking a laxative may cause the appendix to rupture. Please remember that any abdominal pain that has lasted for six hours then requires immediate medical attention.

Severe abdominal pain is always a danger signal. Do not neglect the warning that nature gives you. In such cases never take food or medicine without your doctor's permission. Never take a laxative!

If your doctor advises operation, do not delay. To postpone it even for a few hours may mean weeks of convalescence. An operation for appendicitis, performed without delay by a competent surgeon, is almost always successful.

It is possible to reduce the death rate in acute appendicitis. This can only be accomplished by your complete cooperation with your physician. The danger of walking around with a diseased appendix is far greater than that of an operation.

What Others Say

RENO'S PROSPERITY

While other cities are lamenting the lull in business due to economic conditions, Reno, the continental dividing point, finds prosperity fat and frisky. Since launching the "divorces served while you wait" plan, the city has made material advances. Her lawyers are lolling in luxury hitherto unknown to them and her hotels, gambling halls and night clubs are doing a land-office business.

Of the 5,000 men and women who have journeyed there to be "Reno-vated," as Walter Winchell puts it, the majority are persons of considerable means and many are in the millionaire class.

Few cities, however, will envy Reno the prosperity which has come to her as a result of the six-weeks' residence divorce law. While divorce has become an accepted American institution, yet in the hilly commercialized form and the ease with which it is obtained, it one has the money, as exploited by Reno, it becomes a conspicuous national shame. Obviously there are better and more substantial ways of building a city to greatness—Ohio State Journal.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY JOVIL-FRIEDL INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KINO-TEATRE SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

At 11:30 on New Year's Eve, Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt arrives at the exclusive Mayfair Club in response to a mysterious summons from District Attorney Merle Dougherty. The latter informs Colt he believes Lola Carewe, known as "The Night-Club Lady," widow of Gaylord Gifford, the cotton millionaire is the "higher-up" responsible for numerous jewel robberies perpetrated recently which baffle the police. Though her husband died practically penniless, Lola lives in luxury. She arrives at the Mayfair accompanied by Vincent Rowland, an attorney. Following a spirited discussion, Lola sends a note to Colt, urging him to join her, stating that a life is at stake and she must speak with him.

CHAPTER THREE

As Thatcher Colt reaches her table, Lola Carewe extended one hand, exclaiming:

"Forgive me, Mr. Commissioner. I would not have done this for the world if I had not felt driven to it." Extra chairs were brought and presently five of us were gathered around the table. All felt at least a little self-conscious. There was a moment's awkward silence. On nearer view the effect of Lola Carewe's beauty was still startling. If she did not look so youthful, her expression was more mobile, her glances even more brilliant. The woman's eyes were extraordinarily large and alive, with a cat-like trick of changing their lustre. Behind her outward poise, I sensed a fierce nervous tension.

"Mr. Colt," she began boldly enough, but her lips were trembling.

"I hope—I—I—"

"Better wait a moment," suggested the Commissioner, soothingly.

"There's plenty of time." And then, turning the subject, he added,

"What a magnificent ruby you are wearing tonight."

His eyes dwelled admiringly on a gleaming, fiery stone, pendant on a chain of pearls around her throat. With a little humming cry, Lola lifted the stone, fixed in a gold setting of exquisite craft, and held it up in her palm. Colt's dark head inclined forward, as he studied the shining bauble.

"So much more beautiful than the purplish color of most large rubies!" he remarked softly.

"You talk like a connoisseur, Mr. Colt!" Lola exclaimed. The subject of jewels seemed to lull her nervousness; she was at once more composed. "Do you know precious stones?"

"A police chief has to know something about jewels," Dougherty inserted with a wink at Rowland and a noisy chuckle. "He has to find so many stolen ones."

Colt's eyes, leaving Lola's face, returned to the ruby.

"The weight of this one," murmured, "must be at least twenty-five carats."

"Twenty-five and a half," she corrected him proudly.

"There are so many famous diamonds—and so few famous rubies," lamented Colt. "I suppose this one came from some old Burmese king who needed ready cash?"

His brows lifted in well-disposed curiosity.

"I do not know the ruby's history," Lola answered, with a restless fidget of her shoulders. "I have had it for many years. Mr. Colt, I shouldn't be troubling you like this." Her voice died away, but it was plain she now wished to turn the talk back to her own purpose. Colt lingered, absorbed in the jewel.

"Nearly all large rubies are at least slightly striated," he rambled on. "But this one is virtually flawless. It is even more beautiful than the famous Lucky Baldwin. Such a stone enters the market only about once in a century. Of course you realize that you are taking a great risk in wearing it around New York?"

"I mean," Lola disclosed finally, "that I do not expect to leave Mayfair alive."

"Just what I was telling her," agreed old Rowland crisply.

"But it's New Year's Eve!" protested Lola Carewe.

As if her words were the cue to Father Time, a bell began to chime. It was the long-awaited signal for noise. The remaining midnight strokes were obliterated in the clamor instantly let loose in the Crystal Room; a brattle and brangle of cheers and shouts, knives and forks drumming on china, the frog-like croaking of rattles and a hoarse blast of horns. Many stood and others sang "Auld Lang Syne." The little New Year was getting "a great big hand" in Mayfair.

Brightly Lola Carewe glanced around her. She lifted her napkin, as if intending to rise and wave and sing with the rest. Then a change came over her; she put down the napkin and clasped her hands rigidly as she looked at Thatcher Colt.

"I am not afraid of jewel thieves," she declared, a trace of challenge in her voice. "There are things in this world worse than jewel thieves."

In the din her voice was almost lost. Every minute the revel grew more boisterous. We could only sit and wait until a fanfare of clarinets and saxophones signalled the first dance of the New Year, and the chairvairi gave way to a fox-trot.

"And what is it you do fear?" resumed Colt, his glance leaving the dancers and lingering on the ruby.

"That you, Mr. Colt, will not take my story seriously."

"I shall ask only for facts."

"Will you recognize them as facts? Or will you think me mad?"

Her sidelong glance might have been demented or sinister—or merely a look of deep-rooted fear.

"I shall listen attentively," promised Colt.

"But you policemen do not believe in anything you cannot put in handcuffs."

"I think it would be much better if you came directly to the point," prompted the Commissioner coldly.

"That's just what I was going to tell you, Lola," added Vincent Rowland, again wagging his finger, "get right down to the facts with Mr. Colt."

Lola Carewe breathed deeply and looked away with an angry little winking of her brows. Her fingers drummed ineffectually on the table.

Although she had entreated him to join her, Lola seemed already irritated at the presence of this unruffled, deep-eyed man who was New York's police chief. He was so much the master of the situation—and he would not play the courtier to her charms. Neither her beauty nor the mysterious preamble had provoked in the Commissioner more than a polite and reserved interest.

"I mean," Lola disclosed finally, "that I do not expect to leave Mayfair tonight alive."

She glanced rapidly at our faces, appraising the effect of this remarkable announcement. Yet Thatcher Colt expressed neither shock nor surprise. As if her news had proved of the flimsiest inconsequence, he was negligently lighting a cigarette. But Vincent Rowland's mouth hung in a haggard arc and Dougherty was pop-eyed.

"You mean," gasped the District Attorney, "that they have put you on the spot?"

Lola Carewe looked genuinely taken aback.

"I do not know whom you mean by 'they.'"

"Never mind," rumbled Dougherty. "You do believe someone intends to take your life?"

"That is true. I feel that I am doomed—unless Mr. Colt can save me."

Dougherty turned his over-large blue eyes to Colt, who continued to gaze unseeing out at the dance floor.

Guarded After Kidnap Threat

Threats of death and kidnaping against the family of Edward C. Anness, millionaire broker of New York, have resulted in a strong guard of police and detectives being placed in and about the Anness residence. The threatening letters demand $100,000, failing payment of which Anness' two grandsons would be stolen and the broker himself killed. Photo shows Peyton R. Anness, Jr., and his brother Edward with their mother, Mrs. Helen Donovan Patrick, just before they were recently removed from her custody by court order and given to their grandparents.

INHALING has long been an "untouchable" ... a subject taboo in the tobacco trade ... a "sacred cow"! Why? ... Because in every tobacco leaf—even the finest, the mildest—nature hides certain impurities which, when not removed, are unkind to delicate membranes!

And since, knowingly or unknowingly, we all inhale some part of the smoke from our cigarette—Lucky Strike developed that great scientific process which removes certain im-

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Today's Pattern

LAST WORD IN CHIC
PATTERN 2333

Something of a sensation, this afternoon frock of printed flat crepe. We can't decide whether the raglan sleeves, the diagonal bodice line or the stunning skirt seaming created the excitement, but everyone raved about the original model. The print was black and white, and the ribbon sash was the new Patou blue. The pert bow may be placed side, front or back, wherever most becoming.

Pattern 2333 is obtainable only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch fabric, 1 1/2 yards of 4-inch ribbon.

Your Summer wardrobe can be planned easily and inexpensively with the assistance of our current 32-page FASHION CATALOG. The best of the season's afternoon, sports and evening frocks, lingerie, house dresses and kiddies' models.

ous height before they realized their dangerous predicament. At a height of about 175 feet, one of the sailors lost his grip and fell to earth. A few feet farther up, another of the trio gave out, and he, too, fell to the ground. Both were killed instantly. They were Robert H. Edsall of South Bend, Ind., and Nigel Henton, of Fresno, Calif.

Cowart 19, climbed up the rope until he reached a "toggle"—a cross bar of wood spliced between the rope. The airship maneuvered, sometimes reaching a height of 2,500 feet. Cowart calmly sat on the toggle until members of the crew of the Akron could be spared to pull him through a hatch and into the airship.

40,000 Witness Tragedy
Women fainted and navy officers wept as the two sailors lost their holds and fell to earth. Approximately 40,000 persons witnessed the tragedy. And nearly all of San Diego saw the rescue of Cowart.

Cowart showed no effects of his experience except a pair of blistered hands.
"I asked him how it happened," related Rosendahl. "He said 'the officers told me to hold on and I did—but when I heard them yell let go, I was so far gone up I was afraid to turn loose'."

After he was hauled into the Akron, Cowart ate a hearty meal.
The Akron was to depart today for Sunnyvale, near San Francisco where she later was to take part in naval maneuvers with the Pacific fleet, but the date for her joining the water ships was uncertain.

Approximately 4,000 gallons of gasoline were placed aboard the Akron last night.

UPHOLDS G. O. P. TARIFF STAND

President Hoover declares For Principle of High Protection

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Vetoing the Democratic tariff bill yesterday, President Hoover declared himself for the time-honored Republican principle of high protection and, in effect, took up the gage of battle flung at him by the opposition party.

Terms Measure Bad

In the message of disapproval he termed the measure bad both generally and specifically. He affirmed his belief in the equity of the present flexible provision under which the president has control of tariff rate changes, and asserted that never in history did the United States need protection more than now.

The veto promptly stuck. The Republican house leader, Snell of New York, compelled a record vote. The Democrats, with a slim majority in that chamber, could not muster anything like the two-thirds needed to override, and the bill died.

This was the expected result, anticipated from the time the bill was first planned as a Democratic declaration for lower tariffs, and an indication of what the party would seek to do once it came into power. The outspoken presidential declaration recorded the acceptability of the question as a campaign issue to the Republican side.

Asks World Parley

Besides giving to congress authority to pass on rate changes recommended by the tariff commission, the bill called for an international conference to lower world tariff walls and for trade agreements with individual nations under which reciprocal tariff concessions would be made.

President Hoover did approve the international conference idea but contended that "very little accomplishment" had come out of such meets in the past.

The flexible provision change, he held, removed protection against the "orgy of politics and log-rolling" which has marked congressional tariff action in the past. But above all, he declared it imperative that the policy of a protective tariff be maintained.

Cards Are Marked, But Game's Honest; Players Are Blind

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 12.—They play with marked cards but the game is honest.

The players are blind. They have the game, or a set. They have a club, thirteen girls—one extra so they always will be sure of three tables—and they meet to play three times a week, the evenings of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday on the fifth floor of the New York association for the blind.

The cards are in Braille. Sure memory replaces sight.
This is how they play contract: The cards are dealt, just as in an ordinary game, and so the bidding. The dummy lays down her hand, calling each card once, and the players memorize them.

Then they play. East says "I am leading the ace of diamonds." North "playing the three of diamonds from the dummy." West, "five of diamonds." North again, "the six of diamonds from my hand." And so on to the next game, or a set.

The cards are not held like a fan, but between the fingers, so that the braille marks are felt and the player is conscious of what she is holding. So keen in her memory that she can recall afterwards the complete layout of the 52 cards.

Score is kept on a braille slate, but seldom is it referred to, additions being kept in the head also.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

CONGRESS GETS RELIEF PLANS

May Enact Legislation In Brief Period Before Conventions

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 12.—A new complexion was put today on congressional affairs by concerted efforts in responsible quarters to enact extensive relief legislation in the brief time remaining before the national conventions.

With a bare four weeks left, with the big tax bill still to be put through, and its budget-balancing companion, the economy bill, still to be rebuilt from the ground up, these relief plans were put forward so seriously as to indicate some prospect of non-partisan coalition action.

Outlines Relief Program
Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, outlined yesterday his detailed and extensive program for a $300,000,000 relief fund and a $2,000,000,000 construction plan, and soon thereafter came indications that President Hoover himself was considering recommending some relief plan.

Unless there is non-partisan action—an agreement between Republican and Democratic leaders in both houses to put through a bill acceptable to a great majority of membership—this late rebirth of the relief issue would seem to indicate a summer session. In the time remaining between now and June 14, when the Republicans are to gather in Chicago, only a tremendous sprint can achieve passage of the tax and economy bills and the eight or nine appropriation bills still lying around uncompleted. If a relief program is added, the effort required will be about superhuman.

Seek June 1 Adjournment
Only yesterday leaders of both parties got together in a pact to do their utmost to adjourn by June 10, and they were reasonably confident of success, but that was before the new angle came in.

Prospects for the tax bill are that it will be taken up tomorrow in the senate. Today was to have seen debate begin but the Glass bank reform bill has been taking up too much time. Meanwhile a special economy committee, with the blessings of the administration was at work on the house bill for government savings, seeking to restore it to the $230,000,000 size required to be effective. The house slashed it to a pitiful $42,000,000.

HOW FAR have the mighty fallen. The New York Central railroad that has paid dividends without interruption for 70 years, postponed dividend payments six months ago and yesterday definitely abandoned them.

Stock that paid 8 per cent and sold at 260 recently, now pays nothing and is down to 15, a sample of what can happen when your wars are too big, your stockholders sending money to Europe too stupidly greedy, while your citizens pay no attention to their government.

However, New York Central stockholders should remember that they own rights of way that are priceless, and in time will yield greater returns than the New York Central ever earned in its best days.

NATIONAL COTTON WEEK begins next Monday. The plan is to help cotton growers, and the most important problem is to find new uses for cotton.

Messrs. Gottschaldt-Humphrey of Atlanta inform the writer that great progress has been made in the manufacture of "bond paper" of high grade, containing 25 per cent of cotton fiber. This bond paper, beautiful in quality, is now made in Georgia at a low price.

ALL JAPANESE TROOPS are recalled from Shanghai, that particular corner of China is at rest and the league of nations hails the end of a threat to world peace that has lasted four months.

That is too much optimism. Japan retiring from Shanghai, while sending nearly 30,000 fresh troops into Manchuria, is like an active terrier letting go of a cow's hind foot to seize a front leg. The wise Japanese, perhaps, think they have all they can do in Manchuria, with Russia growing restless and sending troops to the border.

THE REV. ALEXIS MALLON, a Jesuit archeologist of the Pontifical Biblical Institute of Rome has discovered "actual proof" of the Biblical story of the destruction by fire and brimstone of Sodom and Gomorrah.

Excavating on the north shore of the Dead sea in Palestine, Father Mallon finds that Sodom and Gomorrah existed at the same time were both destroyed by fire, never rebuilt.

The conflagrations were very violent.

He observed on the plain below the city an interesting rock formation about five feet high that might have been the wife of Lot turned into salt.

Earlier clericals investigating have also reported the discovery of Lot's wife, supplying extremely interesting biological information concerning it.

Government Kills Peruvian Rebels

(By Associated Press)

LIMA, Peru, May 12.—Eight sailors of the Peruvian navy were sentenced to death and shot, all in little more than an hour last night, as the government struck in retribution for the feeble naval revolt of last Sunday.

Fourteen others were sentenced to 15 years and 143 to ten years in the penitentiary.

It was just dusk when the naval council completed its consideration of the case, and announced the sentences. A little over an hour later the condemned men stood at attention of the edge of a new-dug ditch, staring straight ahead. Sixteen rifles barked and the bodies fell, while a naval officer shouted "Long live Peru!"

Last Sunday a group of sailors seized the only two cruisers in the navy and ran up the red flag. The revolt was put down by four submarines and a destroyer, after the firing of only four shots.

Question Largely Eliminated by Primary Returns

former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper and 12,000 for James C. Beatty, a fourth candidate.

Ingalls Faces White

In the November election, Ingalls will oppose Gov. George White who polled a 250,000 majority vote over Galen Starr Ross in the Democratic gubernatorial primary. White favors a referendum on prohibition. The Democrats also pledged White the state's 52 votes in the forthcoming presidential convention.

President Hoover was assured the 55 Republican convention votes. The electors defeated by a three to one vote four candidates who favored former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland. Opposing Gov. White's delegate slate were six who supported Alfred E. Smith, and a seventh who favored Newton D. Baker, the Baker delegate lost in a close race at Akron while the Smith candidates were defeated in Cleveland.

Since the presidential preference vote is not binding on the delegates, it is expected that the White slate will switch to Baker or another Ohioan if the governor fails to gain strength at the convention.

Hint Liberal Plank

Poes of prohibition hailed the wet primary vote as an indication that Ohio would welcome a liberal plank in the Republican national platform. This statement came from Maurice Maschke, Republican national committeeman, but dry leaders refused to concur in such a view.

S. P. McNaught, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, termed the result an indication of "indifference" on the part of the voters, adding that those who voted "have the fallacious notion that this state can get rid of the lawless element by ushering in a wet regime which has no constructive program to offer."

WARNING!

"Bootleg" Oil may be wrecking your Car today!

Oil Substitution Widespread!

Leading Salem dealers now offer motorists a new protection against this danger

Every car owner in this city should be on his guard against oil substitution! The market is flooded with unsafe, inferior oils. Unscrupulous dealers substitute these treacherous "bootleg" oils for good oils to make a greater profit.

Under the heat and friction of the modern, high speed motor, these substitute oils quickly thin out and break down. They cause car owners a host of motor troubles—scored cylinders, "frozen" pistons, smashed connecting rods, broken crankshafts, and other serious motor damage.

A large group of the city's best dealers are fighting this menace to safe motoring. They have joined forces with The Pennzoil Company to put an end to the substitution evil. These dealers have all signed a guarantee that when you ask for Pennzoil you will get Pennzoil—not a dangerous substitute. And to back up this guarantee each of them has posted a $1,000 bond!

Only reliable dealers display the black and yellow "Bonded Pennzoil Dealer" sign . . . Look for it when buying oil or gas

Many Bonded Pennzoil Dealers also handle Pennzip, the spectacular green anti-knock gasoline. Users report 15% more mileage from Pennzip—yet it costs no more than ordinary gasoline. There's nothing better—except Pennzip Ethyl.

MASONS HONOR FAMOUS MEMBER

Dedicate Temple Today to Memory of George Washington

(By Associated Press)
ALEXANDRIA, VA., May 12—On a hill by this ancient town, Masons from over the nation gathered today to dedicate a towering granite temple to the memory of George Washington, Freemason.

For twenty-two years America's Masons have been building the planned granite memorial, crowned by an angular seven-story tower, symbolic of the lighthouse of Egypt. It stands atop Shooter's hill, once owned by Washington and favored by Jefferson and Madison as the site for the national capitol.

President Hoover, members of his cabinet, diplomats, senators and representatives were among the thousands drawn to witness the symbolic ceremonies, preceded by a parade flashing with color, led by Major General John A. LeJeune, former commander of the marine corps.

In the line of march were soldiers, sailors, marines and the vivid uniforms of Knights Templar, Shriner, Royal Arch Masons and Veiled Prophets.

Malvin M. Johnson, past grand master of Massachusetts Masons, spoke the dedicatory address, crediting to Freemasonry a potent influence in the fashioning of this nation's destinies and its creation.

The memorial has cost already more than $3,000,000 and work yet to be done will bring the figure to between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Flashes of Life

(By Associated Press)
MADRAS, India—June 28 of this year looks like an important date to Pandit V. K. Sadagopachariar, known in India as the Gandhi astrologer. After taking a look at the stars he announced a world war would begin after that date and last several months.

BOSTON—Looks as if there might be mushrooms from the beans and brown bread almost any time now. The Boston elevated railway company has been granted permission by the department of public utilities to lease space in the Broadway subway station to a mushroom grower.

PIZZOFERRATO, Italy—The last gestures of Vitangelo Cassio amazed his fellow townsmen. After burning $1,100 in banknotes, part of his savings while barbering in the United States, he tossed a bomb into the house of his estranged wife. Then he retired into his own den and set fire to it, perishing in the flames. His wife was unhurt.

CHICAGO—Horton Smith has exchanged his caddy for a nurse and his score card for a hospital chart again. This time it's a nose infection. Just when he was recovering from a broken wrist, too. Two years ago his teeth became infected and after that, trouble with the muscles of his back kept him out of the game.

Sculpturing the Silent "Messiah"

Although he refuses to utter a single word, Shri Meher Baba, hailed by many as the Indian "Messiah," has no objection to sitting for a bust by sculptor Merrit in his studio at Kensington, London. Shri Meher Baba, who is 38 years old, is holding the special alphabet board he uses to converse. Seven years ago he took a vow of silence which he has steadfastly kept. He will soon visit the United States, where he will break silence and deliver his message to the world.

COURT NEWS

Suit for $20,000 damages has been filed against the City of East Liverpool by Lucile Smith, the petition being filed by Cochran and Crawford and Charles Boyd as counsel.

A similar action filed by this plaintiff against the defendant in the United States court was dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff, now one has been filed in common pleas court.

The petition claims the plaintiff was injured when she stepped into a depression in the sidewalk at Broadway near Fifth street, East Liverpool, at 3 p. m. Aug. 7, 1929.

RECORD BALLOT IN COLUMBIANA

555 Votes In Three Precincts Sets New Primary Mark

COLUMBIANA, May 12.—A record primary vote of 555 was cast in Columbiana's three precincts Tuesday, 473 being Republican and 82 Democratic. The lengthy ballots delayed the count, "B" precinct not completing its work until 2:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Harry Gosney, of Columbiana, Democratic sheriff nominee, polled a vote of 78. Attorney Homer W. Hammond, successful probate court judge nominee on the Republican ticket, led with 271 votes, Charles F. Bough being second with 139 and Judge Lodge Riddle third with 38.

For commissioner, J. W. Bretz led the field locally with 165, Akenhead being second with 97. Others in order included: Hadley, Cobbs, Galbreath, Wilkinson, Weikart, Rinehart, Vodrey and Van Blaricom.

Lafferty led for prosecutor with 180, followed by Lyon with 117 and McCarthy with 93.

The annual inspection of Columbiana chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was held Tuesday evening in Masonic hall, with Miss Myrtle Windle, Salem, deputy grand matron, as inspecting officer. The meeting was preceded by a dinner served by the Ladies' Guild in the dining room of the Methodist church, covers being laid for 75. Music during the dinner and also later at the hall was furnished by Mesdames C. H. Shontz, F. E. Griffen, D. H. Hepburn, C. R. Todd, Solon Morris and Nettie Pesler. At the inspection 50 were present from Columbiana and about 80 visitors, from Leetonia, Salem, Louisville, East Liverpool, Lisbon, East Palestine and Negley. The hall was tastefully decorated with cut flowers. A light lunch was served at the conclusion of the social period.

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

For six Sunday nights, John Brewster, radio actor, has been trying to get started on the air with a program idea of his own. Each time the opening has been postponed for one reason or another. He has been assured he actually will start this Sunday night over WEAF-NBC.

The program is "Musings," and consists of poetry readings with a background of orchestral music.

Friday the 13th

Tomorrow is Friday the 13th but it's not worrying Sen Kaney, NBC program manager at Chicago.

Sen plans a special WEAF-NBC program at 3 p. m. in which the theme will be defiance of superstition. He says he will break a mirror or two, upset salt shakers and walk under a ladder.

The Broadway of London, Leicester Square, is to originate a program of British show tunes for WABC-CBS in the international exchange on May 20. The Mills Brothers change their Tuesday and Thursday WABC-CBS time from 6:15 to 8:15 p. m., starting tonight. Sam Robbins' orchestra plays its first WJZ-NBC program Saturday evening. The Gypsies Monday night period on WEAF-NBC is to be dedicated to Norway. Guglielmo Marconi, pioneer of radio, talking from Rome, will speak in the Morse anniversary broadcast by WEAF-NBC Saturday afternoon.

Try These Tonight

WEAF-NBC—6:30—Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields; 7—Rudy Vallee and Irene Bordoni; 9—Dance Hour; 11—Don Bestor's orchestra.

WABC-CBS—7:30—Kate Smith; 8:15—Symphonic jazz; 9:30—The Boswell Sisters; 10—Howard Barlow Symphony.

WJZ-NBC—7—Harriet Lee, contralto; 8—Sanderson and Crumit; 9:45—Pickens Sisters; 11:30—Larry Funk's orchestra.

Friday Is To Bring

PLEA ALTERED IN ARSON CASE

East Liverpool Man Given $1,000 Fine; Accused of Burning Store

LISBON, May 12—After a jury had heard opening statements of counsel in the trial of Abe Redlick of East Liverpool, indicted April 14, for burning property to prejudice an insurer, the case came to a sudden end when the defendant, in conference with his counsel W. B. Hill and Ben L. Bennett, determined to enter a plea of guilty.

The jury was excused by Judge W. F. Jones, Bennett informing the court that the defendant desired to withdraw his former plea of not guilty and enter a plea of guilty.

Prosecuting Attorney John E. Bauknecht informed the court that facts obtained by the state were disclosed in opening statements to the jury.

Redlick was fined $1,000 and costs and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Judge Jones was advised by Bennett that his client desired a few days to arrange for payment of the fine, and the court then delayed placing the sentence on the record. Redlick is at liberty under bond.

Redlick was accused of attempting to burn a store in West Eighth street, East Liverpool, but the East Liverpool firemen extinguished a small blaze before the property was badly damaged.

13 AMERICANS BOW TO QUEEN

Eight Others Aflutter At Prospect of Similar Honor Tonight

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 12.—Thirteen American women today had achieved the distinction of being presented to the King and Queen at a royal court, and eight others are aflutter with the prospect of gaining a similar honor at the second court of the season tonight.

The first 13 were presented last night, after the usual hours of waiting in the traffic jam before Buckingham Palace.

As they sat in their limousines, awaiting their turn to enter the palace, they played cards, drank tea and ate sandwiches, while the cockneys, the ladies from Piccadilly, and others in the huge crowd jammed so close to the limousine windows that they left the prints of their noses on the glass.

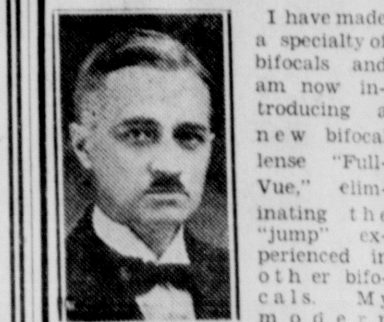

One man lifted his wife above the heads of the crowd so she might see a particularly impressive dowager. The wife's loud comment was: "But she's so fat."

The eight Americans who will be presented tonight are: Mrs. E. Campion Acheson, Jr., Middletown, Conn.; Miss Winifred Holt Bloodgood, Baltimore; Mrs. James Heerbert Boone, New York; Mrs. Russell M. Brooks, Salem, Ore.; Mrs. William Lindsey, Boston; Mrs. Rufus Gray Mather, Gibson Island, Md.; Miss Catherine McAndrews, Owatonna, Minn., and Miss Daphne Prizer of New York.

THE DAY IN SPORTS

FINLAND BACKS NURMI
DRAKE TO TRY AGAIN

THE TALK of a Finnish boycott of the Olympic games at Los Angeles, if Paavo Nurmi is not reinstated shortly by the international amateur athletic federation has gained some headway.

Captain Lauri Pihlakka, head of the physical training department of Finland's volunteer army and long prominent in national athletics told the Associated Press the financing of the trip of a Finnish team to California would be impossible so far as public contributions are concerned, if Nurmi's disqualification is not rescinded.

Ordinary contributors would rather see Finland unrepresented at Los Angeles than have the tear leader Helsinki without Nurmi according to Captain Pihlakka.

Meanwhile the latest indications are the I. A. A. F. intends to stand pat and make a real test case of the charges against Nurmi that he received excessive expenses.

Finnish journalists have been showing the bills for Nurmi's travel. They are the basis of his suspension.

JOHN A. DRAKE, of Chicago, co-time partner of "Bet-a-Million" Gates in some of the greatest betting coups of turf history is going to take one more fling at the turf and win or lose, he will wind up his racing career by running his half-bred French horse "Coup de Chapeau" again in the 1933 Grand National at Liverpool.

"Coup de Chapeau" went lame and failed to take the first jump in the recent Grand National but Drake, an astute judge of horse flesh, feels that his horse can win the hardest race the game has to offer. The horse is good for this one race only and will be kept in training for one more run.

Drake and Gates were the scourge of New York and London bookmakers at the turn of the century. Drake was the son of a former Governor of Iowa and had been treasurer of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa Railroad. Drake is a well known figure in Wall Street and, as Gate's partner, he attracted attention by his daring and successful raids on the stock-market.

HE WAS the least reckless of the two, but then he was a better handicapper of horses. If Gates had listened to him he would never have set the world's record for the largest known bet, which he won on Royal Flush in England. On the other hand, Drake's knowledge of horse form won many huge wagers for Gates on American tracks.

Drake came into international prominence in 1902 on the turf when the year's two most successful horses carried his colors—his Wyeth won the Derby and his Savable won the Futurity prizes. At Saratoga he had lost as much as $250,000. Despite the fact that his horses appeared all out of form he backed them each time they started. Fully 85 percent of his bets were lost.

ONE OF HIS earliest ambitions was to win the Futurity. Savable was not considered then to have a chance, so Drake's crowd in Chicago planned to start something exciting. Savable was primed for the two year classic and by his behavior and bearing was an encouragement to his backers. Gates was slow to fall in with the party but finally sided with them in their betting.

"I'll get even this time," said Drake, "for that Saratoga tragedy."

As soon as the odds were posted Drake and Gates entered the ring and Gates, going down the line bet so high that Savable's odds dropped. When, however, Savable won, Gates collected $250,000 and Drake drew in $200,000 as his winnings.

Every walk of life will be represented when the 2,000 contestants from 50 nations march in the colorful parade which will open the Olympic games in Los Angeles July 20.

The athletes, each group garbed in the colors of its nation, will be led into Olympic stadium by the delegation of contestants from Greece. This honor will be accorded the Mediterranean nation for having originated the games. The United States, as host nation, will march last in line, with the other nations appearing in alphabetical order.

As guns boom out the 10 gun Olympic salute 1,000 white pigeons will be released from the field of the huge stadium, which seats 105,000 persons.

Class distinctions will be leveled for the 15 days of the games. An English lord will run in the same race with European laborers, and a French banker will compete in the 1,500-meter race. All of the 2,000 athletes will live at Olympic village, where 550 specially constructed cottages have been constructed. All of the cottages are identical, each housing four athletes. The furnishings are comfortable but not luxurious.

Dr. Otto Pesler, one of Germany's leading physicians, will enter the 800-meter race. Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, a participant in the hammer throw, is a distinguished Irish psychiatrist.

Finland is sending a famous jeweler, Harry Larva, to run in the 1,500-meter race, and Lord Burghley, Olympic 400-meter hurdle champion, occupies a seat in England's parliament.

Two newspaper reporters are expected. They are Mikio Oda, Japanese, in the hop, step and jump, and Arthur Jonathan, German, in the 200-meter run. Chuhel Nambu, a Japanese salesman, is entered in the broad jump, and George Hamilton, a Portsmouth, England, detective, will show his speed in the 200- and 400-meter runs.

Native New Yorker to Travel West to Compete in Olympics

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of 12 articles on America's 12 outstanding Olympic hopes for the games to be held in Los Angeles this summer.

TODAY: Leo Sexton.

BY STUART CAMERON
United Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, May 12.—It has always been a tradition among track men in the United States that to be a good shot-putter one must hail from the West. There is, of course, an exception. His name is Leo Sexton and he has been a New Yorker all his life.

Never has an Easterner won an Olympic shot-putting championship. In fact, the 1928 award was composed entirely of Westerners. This year Sexton is not only considered to be one of the potential competitors at Los Angeles, but he is believed to be the man who will break the Western dynasty in this sport.

PITCHING HELPS YANKEES; ALLEN BLANKS BROWNS

New York Hitters Slump But Hurlers Pull Team to Front

New York Yankees no longer are getting the flamboyant batting that had opposing clubs hanging on the ropes the first fortnight of the campaign, but their pitching suddenly has become a thing of beauty.

In four games the quartet of George Pipgras, Charley Ruffing, Vernon Gomez, and young Johnny Allen, has allowed only four runs, two of which would have been averted by snapper support.

Allen Blanks Browns
Allen, a rookie, won himself a starting berth yesterday when he set the Browns down 3 to 0, on five scattered hits.

All the other American League teams were weatherbound at Washington, Philadelphia and Boston.

The Brooklyn Dodgers traveled 12 innings to beat St. Louis 6 to 3 and break a four-game losing streak. Their three runs in the twelfth were strictly a gift, the compliments of "Wild Bill" Hallahan. In that frame the Cardinal southpaw uncoiled three wild pitches, tying the major league record for that specialty, passed one man and allowed three hits.

Collins Hits Homer
Jimmy Collins enabled the Cards to carry the fight into extra innings when he smacked his eighth home run in the fourth with Watkins on base.

Cincinnati fans enjoyed a large afternoon as their Reds made it two out of three over the Phillies, 4 to 1. Not only did "Red" Lucas hold the Phils to five hits and his battery mate, Ernie Lombardi, lead an assault on two visiting moundsmen, but there were fistcuffs in the bargain.

Leo Durocher, disqualified when he was tagged out stealing second, planted a right on the jaw of Dick Bartell, Phils shortstop. Bartell went down and Durocher went out.

Wind and rain caused postponement at Chicago and Pittsburgh.

MOUNT INVADERS CASE STADIUM

Bob Cope, Lowell Allen Team's Leading Hopes At Cleveland

ALLIANCE, May 12.—Mount Union college tracksters will journey to Cleveland Saturday to meet a well trained case team. Coach Robert D. Wright is looking for the hardest opposition he has met on the cinder and field this year.

In the field events Mount Union has made best records, both in points and distances, recorded here for several years. In a dual meet with Wooster on April 23, Robert Cope of Salem, hurled the discus 138 feet 1 inch for a record and has taken that event in Hiram and Muskingum meets.

Lowell Allen also of Salem, won in pole vault at Muskingum Saturday at 12 feet 10 inches and then jumped 13 feet 1 inch to set a new conference mark and all-time record for Mount Union.

Warren Smith broke the college record in broad jump by springing 21 feet 11 3/4 inches at New Concord Saturday. LeRoy Rader holds the best record at Mount Union in javelin, having hurled it 180 feet 5 inches in Akron meet last year.

These men will all be in the case meet as well as Fitzsimmons of Columbus, Grimes, and Schindler of East Palestine, who have been high point men in three meets this year. On the track Mount may slide in a few points on the short dashes but lack of early drill is taking its toll.

BUCKNER GETS RAVENNA POST

Lack of Funds Prompts Dismissal Of Head Coach in Favor Of Assistant Instructor

RAVENNA, May 12.—Andris Buckner, assistant coach at Ravenna High, was appointed head coach for next year. He will succeed Glen Francis, who has guided the schools athletic teams for the past two years.

Francis, a product of Kent State college, was not dismissed because of the showing of his teams but because of financial difficulties. While coaching at Kent State High in 1927 his basketball team won the state Class B title. Francis has not enjoyed very good success at Ravenna because the local school is a member of the Northeastern Ohio Big Ten League and the other schools in this league are much larger than Ravenna.

Buckner, a product of Indiana Norman College, was active in basketball, football and track while in college. For the past two seasons he has been assistant to Francis.

Sebring Golf Club Elects Directors

Robert T. Farr and James Armstrong of Salem have been elected directors of the Sebring Country club, located at North Benton, it is announced here.

The golf tournament season will open on Sunday afternoon, May 22, when a contest will be staged between the 12 best players of the Sebring members of the club and the 12 best players of the Salem members.

The greens are in good shape. Director Farr, reports. The club boasts of two sporty water shots on its course. Visitors are welcome at any time, officials state.

The club is made up principally of Salem and Sebring people.

Invincible

Lonnie Warneke, sensational Chicago Cub twirler, won his fifth mound victory in a row Tuesday. The unbeaten Warneke has given up just nine runs in the forty-eight innings he has pitched in achieving his five triumphs. Warneke hails from Arkansas.

WIDE OPEN RACE HELD BY TEAMS IN A. A. LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 12.—Struggle for the American association flag is getting to look like anybody's race more and more every day.

With the race just one month old today, five clubs were in the thick of the battle. Only three full games separated the first place Indianapolis club from the fifth place Red Birds from Columbus.

The struggle was knitted tighter yesterday as Minneapolis defeated Indianapolis, 9 to 4, and Columbus beat Kansas City, 10 to 3, under a 13 hit barrage. The results left Indianapolis on top with a one-game advantage over Kansas City and Minneapolis with Milwaukee, in fourth yesterday because of rain, in idle place two games behind the leader.

Columbus salted away its victory in the first inning against Kansas City. The Red Birds knocked Joe Dawson out of the box in that inning, scored four runs and never were headed.

Slim Harris was the hero as St. Paul defeated Louisville, 4 to 2, to take a two to one lead in the current series. He struck out ten. He walked two.

ALBANY—Nick Lutze, 205, California, defeated John Spellman, 208, former Brown university, 32:00; Leo Numa, Portland, Ore., drew with Pat Reilly, 200, California, 45:00.

LOUGHRAN LOSES TO HAMAS; PUTS UP REAL BATTLE

Philadelphian Far From Being Through; Forces Youth All the Way

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—There were few to assert that Tommy Loughran was through with the leather today although he had bowed a second time beneath the punishing fists of young Steve Hamas.

Still Looks Good

The Philadelphia phantom, trying to come back to the heavy-weight heights from which he tumbled last winter, said he thought he had won the 10-round bout which went to Hamas by a 2 to 1 decision last night.

His partisans declared his performance demonstrated that he still could sock, that he still was clever, and that it might have been a fluke by which Hamas knocked him out last January.

The 23-year-old Penn State letter-man tried for Loughran's body throughout the bout but the veteran kept him away with his left. Hamas got across several damaging blows to the jaw.

Quaker Stars Set for Meet

Salem High will be represented by two crack distance-runners in Keith Harris and Irwin Beck when track athletes toe the mark for the annual Columbiana county meet at Reilly athletic stadium Saturday.

Harris this year raced the 880 in 2 min. 1 sec., while he was aiding his school's two-mile relay team to lower the state mark and establish a new Salem High relay carnival mark two weeks ago. Beck, twin brother of Ed, is a great threat in both the half mile and mile runs.

Beck will probably be paired off with Harold Horstman in the mile run while Harris will display his talents in the 440-yd. race and the 880. Both lads are almost certain point-winners for the Quakers.

The trio are members of the 1930 and 1931 state championship cross country teams coached by Ray B. Clarke.

Lost Public Defender Sought

Police of San Francisco are mystified by the disappearance of Frank J. Egan (left), City Public Defender, who vanished after telephoning a police official that he was in the clutches of a mystery man. His disappearance followed on the heels of the tragic death of Mrs. Jessie Scott (right), one of his best friends, who named him as one of the chief beneficiaries in her will. Police have been unable to determine whether Mrs. Scott was the victim of a hit-and-run driver or was murdered. Her body was found in the street near her home.

THEATER Attractions

"THE WOMAN IN ROOM 13" with Elissa Landi as its star, plays today at the State. Ralph Bellamy, Neil Hamilton, Myrna Loy and Gilbert Roland have important roles and do them well.

Miss Landi plays a modern American wife who rebels against the love affairs of her husband and who finds love in the person of Neil Hamilton only to have her happiness nearly ruined by her former husband.

COMING ATTRACTIONS show "The Miracle Man" as the State's attraction Friday and Saturday. A splendid cast was assembled for the play that made Lon Chaney, Betty Compson and Thomas Meighan the stars they were.

Sylvia Sidney plays a girl crook, hardened against life, cynical and scheming, who changes under the spell of the Miracle Man.

Chester Morris is a two-fisted, brutal leader of a gang of crooks, a scoffer at anything good in life until his regeneration.

Irving Pichel is seen as an atheist who defies the power of God until his own son is cured by a miracle. John Wray, as The Frog, is an obvious character actor with his body twisted into grotesque shapes.

Robert Coogan is a pitiful little crippled boy.

Ned Sparks appears as a "dead-pan" pickpocket.

Hobart Bosworth is the beloved, kindly, religious faith healer.

Boris Karloff has another of his weird character roles as the half-caste menace.

Virginia Bruce, as a frail invalid, and Lloyd Hughes, as the millionaire brother, both have character parts.

Florine McKinney, as the sweet, unsophisticated daughter of Frank Darien, the character hotel owner, has the lone straight part.

"I predicted something a year ago..." says Floyd Gibbons

"Has it come true?.. well, LISTEN!"

Hello Everybody! Back home! And right from the heart—hoo-ray!

Yesterday, Mukden and Shanghai and points east. Rickshaws, refugees, pidgin English, red havoc, and from sun up on, the roar of those deadly Nipponese war birds that might lay one-time velly bad egg wrong place if some nervous little yellow bomber up there made a miscue.

That was yesterday. Today—good old solid American Ohio, a lot better place to be.

Well, I sure had plenty on my mind while I roamed along the sidelines of that hectic Oriental disagreement. No use saying different. But at that, believe you me, I never forgot Ohio and a certain day about a year ago out there when a few specially hot scientific chaps told me something brand new about making gasoline. Not only told me but showed me how it was done, over there in that great sizzling Sohio Refinery.

Floyd on the firing line finds out from the boys who actually man the pumps what they and their customers think of heat-tempered gasoline. The old Headline Hunter gets his gas facts straight from the source.

They convinced me, right then and there. And maybe you remember I cut loose and told you Ohio folks to expect great things of this new-day motor fuel of Sohio's.

Naturally, I was interested in knowing just how good a predictor I'd really turned out to be. Was heat-tempered Sohio as good as the molecule-busting boy friends insisted it had to be? As super-extra in pep-and-mileage delivery as step-ahead science and sheer steely nerve entitled it to be? Those were the questions that kept bobbing up in my mind every now and then, all through these last busy months.

So—first thing when I hit home sweet home I had to find out. In a kind of way I was god-papa to those new Sohio gasolines and I sure wanted to know how the children were coming along, now that they'd celebrated their first birthday.

Take it or leave it, I'm not always talking. I can ask questions and I can listen. So just the other day I shot back to Ohio and buzzed everybody in sight. I went into the highways and byways—mostly highways. And what a reception I got! By golly, it did the old heart good. All I had to do was mention X-70 or Sohio Ethyl and back would come the good words—plenty of 'em. "Great stuff!" ... "Sure peeps up the ol' bus!" ... "Any good? Say, you can't say enough about it, Floyd" ... and that's the way it went, morning 'til night.

I didn't put my questions in such a way so that the answer would have to be yes, either. I'd say to a man pulling into a parking lot—I'd say, "This X-70 propaganda sounds nifty—but on the square now, is it right or wrong?" Then I'd get the same old come back, "Been using it all winter and you couldn't get me to change. Got another tankful just this morning. It's right, I'm telling you—all the time!"

Yes, boys and girls. All the time and everywhere. Hotel lobbies, luncheon tables, quiet corners and busy corners, the answer was always the same. "Heat-tempered" Sohio? You bet. Okay! Get wise to yourself, friend, and fill up with it for more and faster and smoother and cheaper miles!"

Later on, I'm going to tell you about some of the other reactions I got from people who've had a chance now to give Sohio X-70 and Sohio Ethyl a year-round, all-weather test. Not right now. Later.

Floyd Gibbons

Always the inquiring reporter Gibbons has probably asked more questions than any man now alive. Here he is asking the motorists of Ohio what they think of heat-tempered gasoline, now that time has tested it around the seasons.

Doumer Triumphed Over Early Poverty

Man Who Became President of France Fatherless on Day He Was Born. Supported Mother and Educated Self. Lost Four Sons in World War.

RECENT PORTRAIT OF LATE PRES. PAUL DOUMER. WITH WIFE AND GRANDCHILDREN

AT HIS INAUGURATION. ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF ASSASSINATION

The greatest battle Paul Doumer had to win during his climb to the Presidency of the French Republic was one against poverty. Doumer's father died on the day his son was born, at the little village of Aurillac, in the province of Auvergne. The young man who was destined to rule his country spent his early life in a Montmartre slum, in direct poverty, supporting his mother and educating himself. At 22, he entered politics and at 31 was elected to the Chamber of Deputies, where he won a name for himself as a man who knew finance. After that Doumer's rise was sure, if somewhat slow and unmarked by any flashing brilliance. In 1895 he became Minister of Finance in the Cabinet of Leon Bourgeois and conceived the "global and progressive income tax," thus becoming the father of the income tax in France. His next job was as Governor of French Indo-China, which post he held from 1896 to 1902, when he returned to France and resumed his place in the Chamber of Deputies. In 1905 he was defeated for the Presidency by Armand Fallieres. Doumer visited the United States in 1907 as representative of France at the opening of Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh, Pa. During the World War he was a member of the Superior Council on Military Aeronautics. Three of Doumer's sons died in battle for France and a fourth died of wounds after the Armistice. He served three terms as Minister of Finance between 1921 and 1926. His election to the Presidency in 1931 came as a surprise to the outside world, as the practically unknown Doumer was thought to have a slim chance of defeating the veteran Aristide Briand.

DELICACIES FOR SALADS

As a change from a rich dessert, why not put the luxurious touch in the salad? It will make the simple lettuce more attractive, and if the salad is a specially good one the dessert can be omitted. A combination fruit and vegetable salad served at the end of the meal, accompanied with crisp crackers and a bit of cheese is wholesome and a pleasing variation.

Hearts of artichoke, alligator pear, Jerusalem artichoke, plain cooked chestnuts or marrows, melon balls or other fancy fruits can be piled on lettuce leaves or endive, and served with either plain French dressing or mayonnaise.

Serving Alligator Pears

Alligator pears, or "avocados," are now more common than in previous years and a good sized one can serve three or four persons. It is important that this fruit be thoroughly chilled. Cut it in half lengthwise, remove the huge pit within, then cut in half, rings or cubes, place on lettuce leaves and cover immediately with dressing.

When avocados are inexpensive enough to serve half a large one per person, a popular method is to cut them in half, remove pits but do not peel, and pour in the cavity in each half a peppy dressing—French dressing made with lemon juice instead of lemonade, or Russian or Thousand Island dressing—and serve on a bed of watercress.

Incidentally, as avocados have a very delicate flavor they blend well with some of the citrus fruits. A salad made of alternate thin, long slices of avocado and grapefruit is delicious or of avocado, grapefruit and orange. The sections of grapefruit and orange are removed carefully, then peeled with a sharp knife so as to preserve their shape.

Dressing Up the Salad

Hearts of artichoke can be cut from small boiled artichokes and served in salad, or these little hearts may be purchased in bottles at a fancy grocer's.

It pays to keep on hand a modest supply of delicacies that can be used to glorify a simple lettuce salad at the end of a meal. Ripe olives, fancy pickles and relishes, pickled walnuts and watermelon rind, chutney, preserved spiced fruits like kumquats, ginger, pickled peaches, pickled pears—these are only a few.

Energetic housekeepers with a taste for home preserving can easily put up a few jars of such delicacies when the ripe fruit is in season. A dozen assorted jars are not very laborious to put up, a little at a time, and a little goes a long way. However, excellent quality is to be had in the commercial products, and their occasional use is only a slight extravagance.

Use of lemon juice instead of vinegar, or honey instead of sugar, in the preparation of dressings for fruit salads will improve their flavor.
